PC e-Tips are managed by Monica Lundquist, and other Window Book team members who in total have over 100 years of combined experience in the mailing industry.

"Window Book intends to continue to help and educate our clients, and those in the mailing industry, profitably take advantage of all the latest developments and offerings from the U.S. Postal Service. The weekly PC e-Tips email is just one of the many educational services we provide to our clients. Window Book has a team of experts with well over 100 years of combined knowledge and experience that continue to support mailers to best stay ahead in the postal world," said Jeffery Peoples, Window Book's CEO.

In these economic times many companies need to learn how to grow with fewer resources, especially when it comes to Postal expertise. Window Book's weekly e-Tips will help bridge the gap the mailers may have in understanding the new postal requirements and how they can be prepared for upcoming changes. Mailers can expect to benefit from answers to postal regulations, mailing design, processing, acceptance, payment questions, and tips on how to thrive in this challenging economy.
